Melbourne, Feb. 5. Australian scientists, defying an order to quit today, saved valuable astronomical records from raging hush-fires which did an estimated £A100,000 damage at Mount Stromlo Observatory, Canberra.

Flames

Roaring fires from grazing country had ripped across tinderdry grass into the pine forest of Mount Stromlo, where Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh were to have gone and in two hours it reached the Damages For Observatory buildings.

Tonight, Dr R. Woolley, the Commonwealth Astronomer, said that damage to equipment was likely to be about £A50,000, with another £A50,000 buildings.

Dr Woolley described the workshops lost as some of the finest of their kind in the world. instruments destroyed were likely to take at least two years to replace.

BRITAIN'S KORRAN POLICY UNCHANCED

> Attlee Pledges Opposition Support Government

CENSURE MOTION AGAINST PRIME MINISTER

London, Feb. 5. The Labour Opposition today renewed its support for the country's: 12-year-old bi-partisan foreign policy, after Mr Anthony Eden, the Foreign Secretary, had reassured them that Britain's Korean policy remained unchanged.

Earlier, in the House of Commons, the Labour leader, Mr Clement Attlee, had declared that Britain should not lend support to the suggestion of a blockade of the Chinese mainland—"a perfectly futile operation", as Mr Attlee put it.

Though renewing its support of Britain's bi-partisan foreign policy, the Opposition - unconvinced by explanations of the recent talks which Mr Winston Churchill had in Washington - tabled a motion censuring the Prime Minister for failure to interpret Britain's policy adequately to the Americans.

Challenged by Labour members to clarify Mr Churchill's assurance to Congress of "prompt, resolute and effective" action if a Korean truce were broken, Mr Eden insisted that the only commitment which Mr Churchill had made was for "consultation among the interested powers, including Britain."

Labour's surprise move came | The Conservative Govern- Attreet replied, "I do, and I have after a meeting of the Party's ment, with an overall majority said it before. Communist head, Marshal Tito, had acquired such a strong personal footing,

and secondly that she had a powerful

army entirely under Yugoslav control.

The Soviet Government watches both these points. It is constantly changing the governing personnel of the satellite countries. Communist leaders in the highest posts are after brief tenures dismissed (often with a sequel of prosecution for alleged treachery), and others are promoted in their places.

This Russian nervousness is not unjustified. In any future war the satellites might prove a decisive factor. Thrown heavily on the Soviet's side, they would represent a vast manpower as well as a broad defensive belt. Transferred to the Western side,

they might hamstring the communications of the Russian armies attacking

Western Europe. In these circumstances

the Russians are straining every nerve to keep them on their side. What, if anything, is being done in the opposite sense? Obviously the question admits of no complete answer. Any secret action, in which Britain might be engaged, would have to be left secret.

But many of the most important forms of action must by their very nature be open such as the broadcasts of the BBC. With others again the difficulty is not to avert publicity from them but to give them enough of it. British people, while very familiar with the value of advertisement for commercial purposes, are seldom sufficiently alive

to the importance of propaganda for political purposes, especially for foreign policy. The Russians make no such mistake, and the cleverness with which they propagandise in countries

like France and Italy is matched only

by their zeal to prevent counter-

propaganda behind the Iron Curtain:

Diplomatic Relations

U.S. CONSIDERING DRASTIC MOVE

Washington, Feb. 5. The State Department said today that it will take a new look at the question whether to shut down American Embassies and Legations in Russian satellite countries.

Top American diplomats to Iron' Curtain countries will meet in Paris, early next month to discuss this along with other problems.

The United States at presentmaintains embassies in Poland and Czechoslovakia and logations, headed by Ministers, in Rumania and Hungary. . .

Press Officer Michael J. Mc-Dermott confirmed at a news conference that the problem of whether to continue diplomatic relations has been placed on the Paris conference agenda. In answering questions, he made it plain that the Stete Department under present conditions favours keeping theze

A CHANGE IS AS GOOD AS A REST-SO NEWCASTLE AND LEYTON ORIENT FOUND

By TOM FINNEY

As the old maxim says, a change is as good as a rest. But most of the teams which took part in the fourth round of the FA Cup last weekend followed another old maxim: "There's no place like home."

As Leyton Orient were not beaten at Birmingham, Newcastle won at Tottenham and West Ham were not knocked out by Sheffleld United, the change-as-good-as-a-rest policy had some pretty good evidence to support it. For Orient, Newcastle and West Ham were three of the five teams who went away prior to their matches for a change of air.

Bristol Rovers and Southern United were the other two clubs whose players went away from home. As they were drawn together, Southend's victory at home proved nothing.

But the long-moustachied "professor" of "Take It From Here" kept order—by simply getting the students so interested that they forgot to be noisy.

Comedian

Bells, bugles, rattles, whistles, and motor horns lay silent in their hands as the new rector dripped epigrams, puns. Latin phrases, classical allusions, and quotations from Burns.

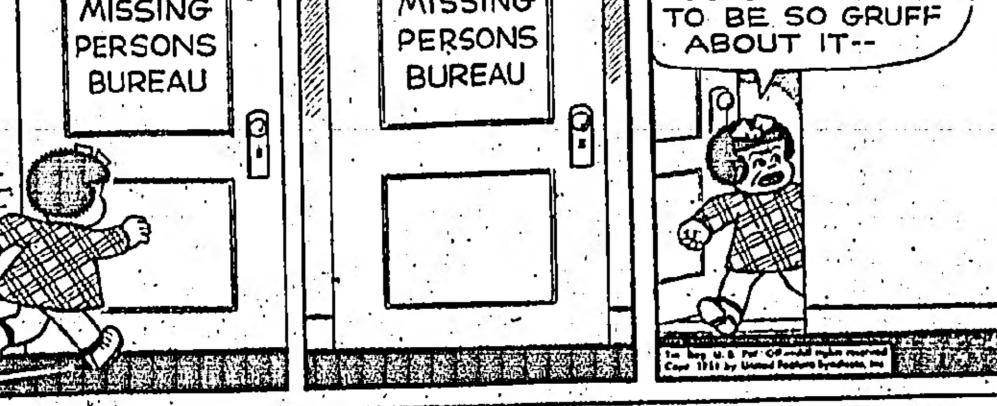

Grey-haired professors who looked as it they never listened to anything but the Third Programme seemed to gaze with a new respect at this rasping, rascally voiced young man. They pushed back their mortar boards and reared with laughter.

He did get serious. On radio: The aspect of mass listening which is disturbing to me is its effect on the younger generation.

METHOD OF PAYMENT SNAG THE

Industrial circles today said that current negotiations for the purchase of 100,000 tons scrap iron from Indonesia are facing considerable difficulty.

Keen attention is being focused on what form of payment will be made for scrap to be imported by Japan and how Indonesia will pay for the 90,000 tons of steel products which Japan is to ship in exchange for scrap.

A sub-committee of the Iron and Steel Federation, set up to study the problem of payment, yesterday invited International Trade and Industry Ministry officials for an exchange of views.

Plan: To Attract Foreign Capital

Tokyo, Feb. 5.

A bill relaxing the restrictions on remittances of interest and principal of investments in Japanese shares will be submitted to the current Diet, the Finance Minister, Hayato Ikeda, told the Diet yesterday.

Mr Ikeda sold that if the Bili is approved it will become affective from April 1.

Under the proposed revision, foreigners who have invested in Japanese s.ocks will be permitted to remit dividends in accordance with specific yardsticks, provided the dividends are paid in reasonable amounts, Mr Ikeda

The Finance Minister explained that the term "reasonable" means an equitable sum which reflects the real business "VAN HEUTSZ" conditions of the enterprises concerned...

If a 50-yen share is transacted at 500-yen, or if dividends are being paid at such high rates as 50 to 80 per cent, limits on remittances will be determined on the basis of the par value of the shares in question, Mr Ikeda stated.

Mr Ikeda said the Government was currently negotiating with the International Monetary Fund with a view to raising the allocation of Japan's allocation from $250,000,000 to $300,000,-000. He was extremely dissatisfied with the proposed allocation of $250,000,000 because it meant that they regarded Japan as a third-class country.

Mr Ikeda declared that the Government would try to repay all its foreign debts to maintain its high international reputation and pave the way for a flow of foreign capital,-France-Presse.

Germany Wants More Cotton

Washington, Feb. 5. The Agriculture Department's publication, "Foreign Crops and Markets," said today that the German cotton industry has placed its overall requirements for the period at about 1,025,000 bales, considerably more than the 925,000 bales imported last

"The sum of $81,000,000 is available for the import of dollar cotton. Court Of Upholds Sentence

An appeal against severity of sentence brought by Chung Ping was dismissed by the Full Court, comprising the Chief Justice, Sir Gerard Howe, and the Senior Puisne Judge, Mr Justice Gould, this morning.

Appellant was found guilty of robbery with violence and larceny from the person and sentenced by Mr Justice Scholes to five years and six strokes of the cane on December 5.

Appellant asked the Court to take into consideration that he had a mother, a wife and two children at home. He asked that his sentence should start from the date of his arrest.

Mr Justice Gould observed that appellant was arrested in July and remanded a great number of times before he was brought to trial. This fact probably occurred to the Trial Judge Kwok Fat, alias Shiu San, when he passed sentence of only Counsel said that appellant seemed to be telling a different story now to the Court. He had previously told the Police that his parents had died in 1943 and after he had no home and no relatives in the Colnoy.

Refusing the appeal, Mr Justice Gould said that the Court saw no reason to interfere with the sentence passed. Their Lordships were satisfied that the Trial Judge considered the fact that appellant had been under arrest for some months.

In the ordinary way; after an appeal had failed, the sentence was to run from the date of the appeal, but the Court allowed that it should commence from the assizes at which the appellant was convicted.
